A First: Harris Award Shared by Two

For the first time in its 10-year history, the John B. Harris Award will be shared by two outstanding graduates: Jan Gates-Williams of St. Louis and Franklyn E. Seabrooks, II of Detroit. The award is given annually to the UCSF graduate who best exemplifies the qualities of this late UCSF teacher, physician and civil rights advocate.

A PhD candidate in medical anthropology, Gates-Williams most recently has studied Oakland's black community, specifically infant and prenatal care and prevention of black infant mortality. She also is known for her long-standing community activism in these areas, including her work with the Coalition to Fight Infant Mortality, the Maternal Child and Adolescent Health Board and the Infant Mortality Oversight Committee.

She received her BA in Critical Approaches to Afro-American Literature in 1976 and her MA in Folklore in 1982, both from UC-Berkeley. Following her UCSF graduation, she plans to pursue an academic career on campus.

Franklyn E. Seabrooks, II is a graduating medical student. He has served on the UCSF School of Medicine Admissions Committee and was president of the Student National Medical Association, in which he organized an undergraduate pre-medical conference and minority recruitment week for the School of Medicine.

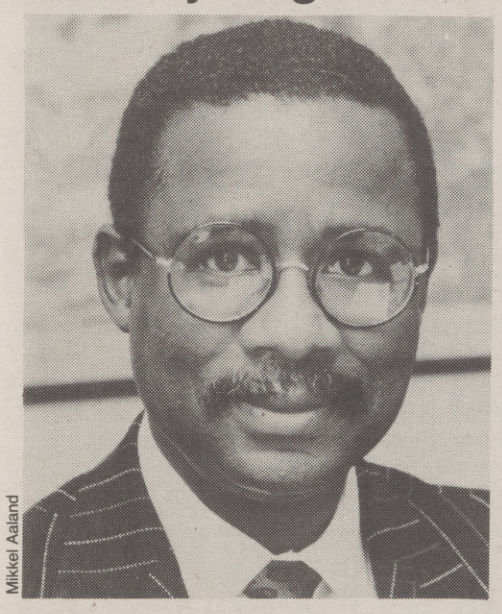
Seabrooks received his BS in Biological Sciences in 1984 from Stanford. His UCSF research was at SFGH on fractures and dislocations. He will complete his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Georgetown University in Washington, DC.

Each winner will receive $500 and an inscribed scroll, and their names will be engraved on a plaque on display outside Cole Hall.

In the UCSF Department of Medicine for some 20 years, Harris was a member of the CVRI and taught in the gastroenterology service at SFGH. A vital member of the civil rights movement, he worked to extend educational opportunities to disadvantaged groups. He was one of the founders of the UCSF Black Caucus and an advisor to black medical students.

Harris Award winners: Jan Gates-Williams, Franklyn Seabrooks, II

Anthony Wagner to Head Laguna Honda



Mikkel Aaland

Anthony G. Wagner, deputy associate director of our Medical Center since 1982, has been appointed the new administrator of Laguna Honda Hospital. He will begin his new executive administrative post on July 15.

Wagner's appointment was announced on May 17 at a health commission meeting headed by David Werdegar, MD, director of the San Francisco Department of Public Health. He was one of 175 applicants.

Wagner takes over the job from Larry Meredith, deputy director of operations in the city health department.

Wagner came to UCSF in 1974 as an administrative resident. He became assistant director of Hospitals and Clinics in 1977, in charge of Community Services and Patient/Employee Relations.

"I look forward to working in one of the largest skilled nursing homes in the nation," Wagner said. Laguna Honda has some 1,000 beds and a small acute care hospital section.

$1.5 Million for VAMC AIDS Research Center

The VAMC has been named one of six centers to receive VA grants for new AIDS research programs—with new studies ranging from basic research on how the AIDS virus attacks cells to an attempt to define the best ways to educate people about the deadly disease.

The VAMC will receive $1.5 million over the next five years to help support the new VA Center for AIDS Research and Education (VACARE), according to its director John Ziegler, MD, professor of medicine at UCSF and director of the UCSF AIDS Clinical Research Center.The grant will help support VAMC investigators in both clinical and laboratory research, Ziegler said, and will establish a new facility to produce monoclonal antibodies—biologically engineered proteins that have proved useful in diagnosis and treatment of other diseases.

Third Genetic Patent Granted

A third broad genetic engineering patent sought by UC and Stanford was issued in April by the US Patent Office.

The new patent confirms the universities' broad proprietary claims over the methods and tools used throughout the biotechnology industry, according to Stanford's Office of Technology Licensing.

The patent, together with two earlier ones, defines the use of genetically engineered molecules in all cell types, as well as the recombinant DNA methods used to generate such molecules.

The trio of gene-cloning patents, which will expire in 1997, is based on work carried out in 1973 by Stanford geneticist Stanley N. Cohen, MD, and UCSF biochemist Herbert W. Boyer, PhD.

Meanwhile, both Boyer and Cohen will be awarded on July 5 the Moet Hennessy-Louis Vuitton Award of the Institut de la Vie, France, for their pioneering work in genetic engineering.

$3.6 Million for Breast Cancer Research

UCSF researchers have received $3.6 million from the National Cancer Institute to study the link between breast fluid abnormalities and the development of breast cancer.

Preliminary findings suggest that women whose breast fluids show abnormal cell changes have a three times higher risk of breast cancer.

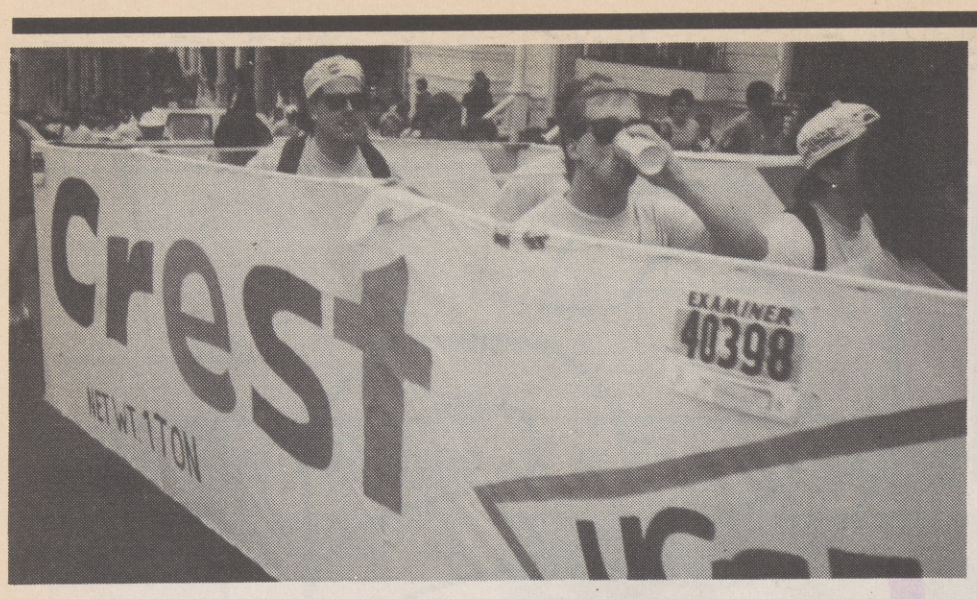
The UCSF studies, funded for three more years, could lead to a better understanding of how breast cancer develops and new methods to prevent a disease which strikes an estimated 100,000 women in the US each year.

For 16 years, the UCSF researchers led by Nicholas Petrakis, MD, chair of epidemiology and international health and professor of preventive medicine, have collected breast fluid samples and detailed personal information from some 5,200 women not known to have breast cancer.

Petrakis and co-researchers have found abnormalities in breast fluid cells of some of the women. One of the tasks now is to conduct follow-up surveys of all the women and learn if any have developed benign or malignant breast disease.

Go Take a Walk!

Sporting smart, smoke-free shirts are PRO fitness coordinator Karen Britz (second from right), outpatient nutritionist Claudia Davoli (far left), and LPPI administrative assistants Jean Fong and Rosalie Willig. They are preparing for their new roles as walk leaders in the UCSF Employee Walking Program to begin June 13. Directed by Karen, this program is in response to our campus becoming "smoke-free." Smokers and nonsmokers alike are invited to join in twice a week for lunch hour group walks. For further information, or if you would like to be a walk leader, call Karen at x62671. UCSF smoke-free signs will start going up June 1, even though the policy will not go into effect until Monday, June 6. These flashy t-shirts will be on sale in Med Sci lobby Monday, May 23, to Tuesday, May 31. (See inside calendar.)



Fighting Cavities in the Bay to Breakers

Sixteen of our School of Dentistry students decided that in last Sunday's Bay to Breakers they would go as a large toothpaste tube. Actually they went as a large toothpaste tube box. Their run, which was co-sponsored by Crest, included handing out tons of toothpaste samples and encouraging people to brush. And all the while they ran under the UCSF flag. This cavity-fighting crew consisted of one sophomore, one senior and 14 first-year students, including Mark Mehrali who organized the team.

Jane Norbeck is Helen Nahm Lecturer

Jane S. Norbeck, DNS, will address the topic "Challenges in Social Support Research" as the School of Nursing's Eighth Helen Nahm Research Lecturer on Friday, June 3, at 10 a.m. in Toland Hall.

Professor and chair of the Department of Mental Health, Community and Administrative Nursing, Norbeck is widely known for her nursing research, particularly for the concept of applying support systems across a variety of populations. She is the founder of an international social support research group; and her Norbeck Social Support Instrument, a questionnaire used in research, has become a standard in many countries.

Norbeck joined the UCSF faculty in 1975 and advanced to professor in 1986. She is a fellow of the American Academy of Nursing and was named Distinguished Lecturer by the Sigma Theta Tau honor society in 1987.

The lecture is named for Helen Nahm, PhD, professor emeritus and dean of the UCSF School of Nursing from 1958-69. The award recognizes a graduate or member of the School's faculty who has made an outstanding contribution to nursing science and research.

Animal Research Forum May 26

The campus Staff Advisory Committee is sponsoring a forum on Thursday, May 26, from noon to 1 p.m. in HSW 302 to address campus questions concerning the use of animals in research.

This will be an informal panel discussion with questions from the audience. Panel members will include from the UCSF Animal Care Facility—director Joseph Spinelli, animal resource manager Joy Becker, chief clinical veterinarian Jan Wyrick—plus consultant Betty Carmack; UCSF pediatrician Julien Hoffman, professor of physiology and CVRI; and Lauren Jacobson, graduate student representative from the Committee on Animal Research.

The forum will be videotaped. For further information call x66776.

It Sure Was One Beautiful Day to Honor Leake

Our campus came out in full force last Thursday to honor Chauncey Leake. It was a warm, beautiful day to celebrate a warm, generous man.

We had a relay race with the slogan "Butt Out on Leake Day," a huge picnic, live entertainment by our own non-marching band, plant and bake sales, and prizes.

And for the first time ever, all the UCSF departments at CED and 20th and Harrison joined in the fun with their own celebration at 15th and Folsom. All of Far West Labs was there. The highlight? Some great raffle prizes.

The day concluded with hundreds of folks packing Cole Hall to hear this year's Leake Lecturer, UC-Berkeley biochemist Daniel E. Koshland, Jr., PhD, the editor of Science magazine.

Tooting our own horns

At the CED celebration: Richard Drake of AIS, chair of the CED Leake Day Committee; with raffle winners accounting assistant Dorothy Costello and (far right) Ursula Hoffman of Far West. Next to Ursula is Jackie Kuhn, representing Med Center administration.

GSA "packrat" Greg Gayer heads off across Parnassus.

These second-year med students called the "Nicotine Misfits" took first overall in the race, were the fastest and were second in costume. They are A.J. Matthews (as Grumpy), Raul Mirande (Portly), Eldan Eichbaum (Healthy), and Leland Rosenblum (Longevity).

Nursing Honors Psychiatric Leader

The School of Nursing's Department of Mental Health, Community and Administrative Nursing took part in a tribute to Dr. Hildegard Peplau (seated right), a national leader in psychiatric nursing, during the recent "Psychiatric Nursing Update '88" in San Francisco. Two UCSF School of Nursing faculty participated in the tribute, acting dean Patricia Pothier (back row, center), representing the ANA as president of the Council of Psychiatric and Mental Health Nurses; and Pat Underwood, clinical professor, MHCAN (back row, left), representing UCSF.

Hey Departments! Giants Tickets

EMPACT! is raffling off 40 Giants tickets to the Saturday, June 4, Houston game. The Chancellor's Office purchased the tickets to support a San Francisco Afterschool Program fundraiser. Any department interested in winning 10 tickets for their employees, should send a contact name, box number and campus extension to EMPACT!, Box 0234. Raffle will be held Tuesday, May 31.

Also on the EMPACT! Circuit: Join in on EMPACT!'s discount week at the Esprit outlet, 699 Illinois at 16th. St., during the week of May 30. Outlet hours are weekdays, 10 a.m.-9 p.m., Saturdays 10-a.m.-6 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-5 p.m. All UCSF employees are welcome. Be prepared to show your UCSF ID or paystub to receive an additional 15 percent off already discounted items. Call x66932.

Medical Illustration Graduate Show

Four of this year's graduates of the Program in Medical and Biological Illustration—Timothy Krasnansky, Julie Newdoll, Tom Rolain, Rebecca Schwartz—will be displaying their artwork at a show entitled "The Art of Science" at the Faculty/Alumni House from May 31 to June 4. A reception for the four will be held Thursday, June 2, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

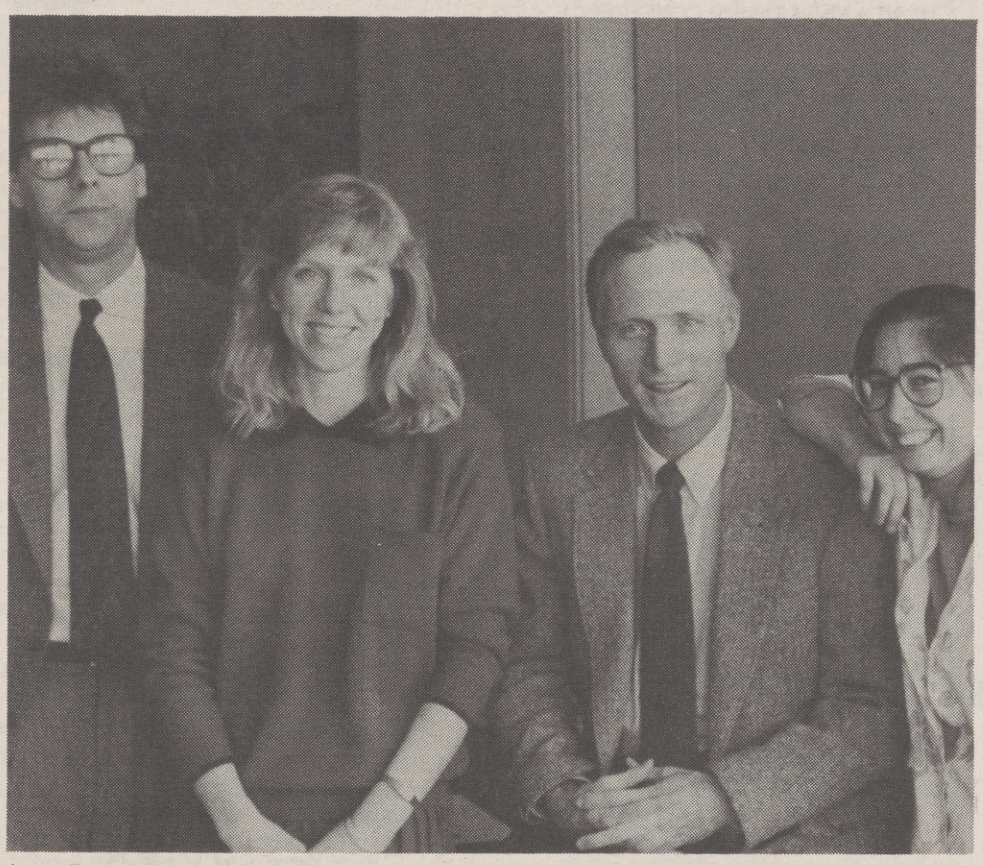
Top Honors to Pharmacy Faculty, Students

The School of Pharmacy is gearing up for its commencement on Saturday, June 18, at 1 p.m. at the Masonic Auditorium. A highlight of the ceremony will be the presentation of the Bowl of Hygeia to one of these five graduates: Marilyn Hedges of Sacramento, Thomas Bookwalter of San Francisco, Karen Nabors of Taft, CA, Dean Fredericks of San Joaquin or Kimberly White of Richmond, CA. See the June 25 issue of Newsbreak for all the details.

Meanwhile 11 School of Pharmacy faculty and students were honored at a pre-commencement reception on April 29. These pictures tell the story.



Long Foundation Awards for Excellence in Teaching went to: Brian Alldredge, full-time faculty; Maureen Boro, clinical resident; Michael Winter, full-time faculty; and Amy Fugishige, teaching assistant.

The Associated Students of the School of Pharmacy gave Valerie Tada (third from left) an outstanding service award, while Donna Schroeder (second from left) got honorable mention; the Academy of Students of Pharmacy chose Tina Denteclaw (far left) the outstanding project coordinator, and presented Daniel Thoene (far right) with an outstanding student service award.

These students had the top three grade point averages and took home the Dean's Award for Academic Excellence: Jeffrey Bubp (who came in second), Krista Schnurstein (third), and Lina Desai (first with a 3.94!).

Graduate Division Commencement June 2

Presidential Chair Seymour S. Cohen, PhD, will be this year's commencement speaker at the Graduate Division's commencement on Thursday, June 2, beginning at 2 p.m. at the UCSF-Laurel Heights auditorium. Cohen, who is an emeritus distinguished professor and American Cancer Society Professor of Pharmacological Sciences at State University of New York, Stony Brook, will discuss "Anecdotage for Postdocs."

Forty-two students will receive degrees, representing a wide range of disciplines: Three will receive masters—1 in oral biology, 2 medical illustration; there will be 7 DNS; and another 32 PhDs—9 pharmaceutical chemistry, 3 experimental pathology, 4 anatomy, 2 each in endocrinology, psychology, biophysics, pharmacology, nursing, and 1 each in medical anthropology, sociology, human development and aging, biochemistry, comparative pharmacology/toxicology and microbiology/immunology.

Nursing Features First PhD Grads

Sally Rankin and Sandra McClowry will become the first PhD graduates from the School of Nursing during the commencement ceremony on Saturday, June 4, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Auditorium.

A total of 235 graduates will receive diplomas, including 28 BS degrees, 190 MS degrees, 15 DNS, and the two PhD's.

The June 4 issue of Newsbreak will feature the Outstanding Student awards and other honors issued at graduation.

Credit Card Offer for UCSF Students

HELP ELIMINATE SCHEDULING CONFLICTS

In order to help the campus avoid conflicts in scheduling important events, the News & Public Information Services Department has a computerized calendar. It is suggested that faculty, students and staff call x61541 when they are planning an event to make sure nothing has been scheduled for that date. Please note that in order to reserve campus conference rooms and auditoriums, it is still necessary to call Millberry Union at x62571, Room Reservations at x64436, Faculty/Alumni House at x64723, Laurel Heights at x68100 or the individual school or department.

Open to the public.

Benefits/Personnel

UCSF Police Begin Street Patrol in CED Neighborhood

Beginning June 1, UCSF police officers will patrol the streets around CED, concentrating their efforts on the protection of UCSF personnel who walk and drive in the immediate CED area.

According to UCSF police chief Robert Reisig, a two-person team, consisting of a sergeant and a corporal using the familiar white-and-blue UCSF police squad car, will work seven-hour daytime shifts, Monday through Friday with the exception of holidays. They will give most of their attention to the routes from CED to the 17th and Folsom parking lot and to the BART station at 16th and Mission.

The UCSF officers, says Reisig, will work closely with SFPD officers in attempting to alleviate car break-ins and parking problems. They also intend to see what they can do about abandoned vehicles in the immediate area.

Sergeant Dennis Hazen, an eight-year veteran of the UCSF police, will be the working supervisor of the patrol. Hazen is the UCSF Police Department's rangemaster and an expert in self-defense. Lieutenant Mike Brant is the overall supervisor of field operations, i.e, the UCSF satellite locations.

Police services are available by calling x61414 for routine business and non-emergency calls; or x66911 for emergency calls.

P.S. There's a CED Safety Committee, made up of UCSF people and representatives from neighboring businesses, that is making some interesting headway. As soon as some of these developments solidify, we'll report them here.

New Monthly Figure for Stocks and Bonds

As you may know, the unit values and monthly factors for the Voluntary Contribution Plan are calculated at the end of every month. Since the equity and bond (stocks and bonds) funds are intended to be long-term investments, in the past we have reported their percentage change for the previous 12 months. However, since both the stock and the bond markets have been volatile, Financial Planning's Jerry Neal has suggested we add a month-to-month percentage change for each of these funds. Here are the latest fund performance figures, with the new percentages added (as of April 30):

- Accumulation Unit Values

Equity Fund: $47.857 (-9.0%)* (0.1%)
Bond Fund: $31.069 (2.8%)* (-2.0)

- Monthly Factors

Savings Fund: .0070 (8.74%)
Money Market Fund: .0073 (9.13%)
GIC Fund: .0072 (9.04%)

Percentages represent change in unit value from previous month.

Percentages represent the most recent returns expressed as an annualized rate. The money market and savings rates change monthly.

Questions, call x61400.

June Workshops for A&PS Supervisors

If you supervise A&PS staff, be sure to schedule yourself for one of the June workshops on how to conduct A&PS performance evaluations. Dates are as follows:

- Monday, June 13, 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.
- Friday, June 17, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.
- Monday, June 20, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

No fee is required for these sessions, but you must submit an application to Development & Training in order to attend. If you need an application, phone x64032.

Jobs

The Personnel Department, located at 1350 Seventh Avenue, is open to receive applications every weekday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with extended hours on Wednesdays, 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Details of jobs listed below are available in the UCSF Employment Opportunities flyers. Copies are distributed campuswide and also are posted at the Personnel Office and in the main lobby of Moffitt Hospital.

Haven't You Seen These Faces Somewhere Before?

If these people look familiar, it's because they've been photographed several times in conjunction with the Med Center's very successful 1987 United Way campaign. This is the committee that brought you that campaign, and last week they gathered for one last moment of glory. The occasion was the arrival of this plaque proclaiming the Med Center as having the largest total dollar increase among participating Bay Area hospitals for 1987.

the clientele is basically driven by greed. The whole environment reflects that. It's every man for himself.

"Here, the reason for being is a lot different; and again, the environment reflects that. The first thing I noticed was a feeling of teamwork."

In his new job, the amount of money passing through on a daily basis isn't exactly in the Pacific Stock Exchange ballpark, but the challenges here are different. In fact, he's starting his new job in the face of a substantial challenge: In just a few weeks, his entire area—including all the financial, administrative and clinical systems associated with the Medical Center—will be consolidated from the present locations at CED and Parnassus into new quarters on the fourth floor of CED.

Until then, Duane is located at CED 353, x64246.

Introducing Environmental Services' First Custodial Training Graduating Class

William Wyatt and Ka Hang Lee (center) have just graduated—with honors—from Environmental Services' new Custodial Training Program.

Earlier this year, Goodwill Industries approached the department about providing on-site training for their Janitorial Skills Training Program. After the details were worked out, Ka Hang and William became the first referrals, and each spent eight weeks learning basic custodial skills and specialized hospital techniques under supervisors Johnny Franklin and Carl Bridges. At last week's graduation ceremony, Environmental Services director Jesse Stephens awarded diplomas; Goodwill representative Sharon Gehringer announced that Ka Hang already has a job; Almeta White-Brent was acknowledged for coordinating the UCSF component; and several rounds of applause acknowledged everybody involved.

Julie Buhler Now in Building Management

Last time Julie Buhler was featured in Medsounds, it was the summer of '86, and she had just arrived at the Med Center as a Pew management fellow. Her education and experience included a master's in health care administration from the University of Minnesota and a year in Washington, DC, working for Senator Dole.

In the almost two years since she arrived she has added significantly to her experience: She set up the Med Center's Executive Registry; she worked on the UCSF/Mt. Zion perinatal partnership; she flew back and forth to Washington doing health policy work for a Congressional commission headed by Phil Lee; she helped reorganize the urology department, and the list goes on.

You may be surprised by the diversity of these projects and wonder how a person can move with such apparent success from one area to the next. Julie's most recent endeavor certainly will add to your wonderment. She is the newly appointed interim director of Building Management, an appointment that comes with many accolades for the energy and ability she's given to every other project she's tackled during her time here.

As for her background in buildings, she's in the process of acquiring that. Her major business during the interim will be applying her management and reorganization skills to such areas as department systems, customer service and repair/maintenance order follow-up.

You can find her in M 24 at x64073.

Another Odious Case of ELEVATOR CRIMES

This is how it happened: A crowd was gathering outside the Moffitt passenger elevators. It had been many minutes since an elevator had arrived. The group was getting restless, shifting from foot to foot. Finally, the bell rang. The group was heartened. They poised for departure. But when the door opened, the cab was nearly stuffed to the brim with all sizes of carts, isolettes, ventilators, x-ray equipment and all the personnel needed to navigate these items. There was one small patch of space available, but before a single member of the waiting group could claim a stake, more equipment mongers materialized and quickly overcame the would-be passengers. "Sorry, no more room," signaled the elevator occupants. "You'll have to wait for the next one." As the door shut in the face of the grief-stricken crowd, one agitated individual shouted, "I thought there were separate elevators for transporting equipment!"

Yes! This person was right. This crime could have been prevented. Just steps away from the passenger elevators are the equipment elevators. All those carts and machines and accompanying people should have been on those elevators. Help stamp out elevator crimes. Repeat 10 times every day: "I will not take equipment on the passenger elevators." Even addicted elevator abusers can be helped by following this advice.

Duane Brown, Computer Services Chief

For 20 years—his entire career—Duane Brown has been in the stocks and securities business. For the last 15, he's been with the Pacific Stock Exchange, most recently as the manager for two data centers that provided computer support for three trading floors that passed around a couple of hundred million a day.

Two weeks ago he joined our staff as director of Computer Services in Hospital Information Systems. His immediate impression is the radical change in environment. "There is such an intense, frenzied environment at the Exchange. What it comes down to is that

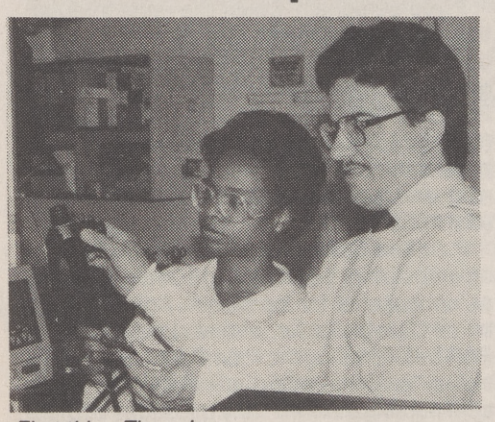
Glenn Krell Spent Two Days "Spending a Day"



First thing Thursday

Last thing Friday

When the annual "Spend a Day" invitation was issued, Glenn Krell from the Animal Care Facility responded in a most remarkable way: He signed himself up to visit 14 departments!

Starting last Thursday morning, his schedule went like this:

- 8 to 9 a.m.—Diagnostic Center with Jacqueline Scott
- 9 to 10 a.m.—Medical Staff Affairs with Alice Herrera
- 10 to 11 a.m.—Contract Administration with Kirby Maples
- 11 a.m. to noon—Utilization Review with Chris Melanson
- Noon to 1 p.m.—Chauncey Leake events
- 1 to 2 p.m.—Materiel Services with Chuck Kredensor
- 2 to 3 p.m.—Blood Donor Center with Jean Katz
- 3 to 4 p.m.—Hospital Building Management with Dorris Carter
- 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.—Nursing Staffing with Carol Lemmon
- 7 p.m.—Photography class at City College
- (Friday) 9 to 10 a.m.—Quality Assurance with Jim Estes
- 10 to 11 a.m.—Respiratory Care with Jeff Tarnow
- 11 to 11:45 a.m.—Physical Therapy with Linda Shand
- 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.—Nutrition and Dietetics with Monique Cologne
- 12:45 to 1 p.m.—Eat fast
- 1 to 2 p.m.—Environmental Services with Almeta White-Brent
- 2 to 3 p.m.—Med Center Administration with Karen Akerson
- 3:30 to 7 p.m.—EMPACT! brainstorming retreat

What possessed Glenn to take two vacation days to do this? "I've worked here eight years," he says, "but there's a lot I don't know about other areas of the campus. It's easy to get caught up in the workings of your own department and lose sight of the bigger picture. This seemed like a great way to cross some lines. As far as taking the vacation days, well, I can always go to Tahoe another time."

UCSF May Day Runners Win Again!

For the third year in a row, our UCSF team has won the white-hot hospital challenge of the American Heart Association's May Day Run. This news was doubly exciting because many of our frontrunners from yesteryear weren't able to participate this time. Thus, no one knew what to expect. But when the times were tallied, the total for our top ten 10K runners—387 minutes—was 21 minutes ahead of the second place contender, Kaiser Oakland.

Furthermore, our team won top prize in the fundraising department, which means everybody gets to go to a Giants' game in style: box seats and catered lunch. We raised a total of $1,846 in pledges and registration fees. Children's Hospital came in second with $717. Three UCSF people were among the top five individual fundraisers: Development's Amy Liston came in second with $510; and team captains Brigid Doyle and Elaine Shanahan came in third and fifth, respectively, with $330 and $280.

It appears that approximately 39 people ran or walked for UCSF, including the top ten 10K's (of which the rules say three must be women):

- Fady Malik, second-year MSTP student (33.46)
- Mike Ignatius, Howard Hughes Medical Institute (34.17)
- Ron Brown, CVRI (35.07)
- Paul Findell, ob/gyn lab (35.09)
- Tony McDonagh, GI lab (39.57)
- Mirek Gorski, Renal Center (40.29)
- Jim Curran, CVS (40.30)
- Isabelle Gaston, CRI (40.58)
- Gina Brown, CVS (43.39)
- Kay Bolla, radiology (45.05)
- And all the other good sports who borrowed a little time from Mom on a sunny Mother's Day morning to support the team spirit: Michelle Artoux, Kathy Balestreri and dad, Kirsten Brossiers, Sherry Curran, Brigid Doyle, Kent Gershengorn, Kim Green, Denise Gomez, Donna Hamilton, Kathy Hudson, Gene Ide, Bobbi Kircher, Mary Lambert, Chauncey Leake, Jr., Nathan Lee, Tony Leong, Amy Liston, Wendy Lotz, Carl McWalters, Dov Michalli, Sandy Norberg, Chris Peas, Linda Pon, David Price, Alan Schwartz, Elaine Shanahan, Barb Stumpf, and Dick Young.

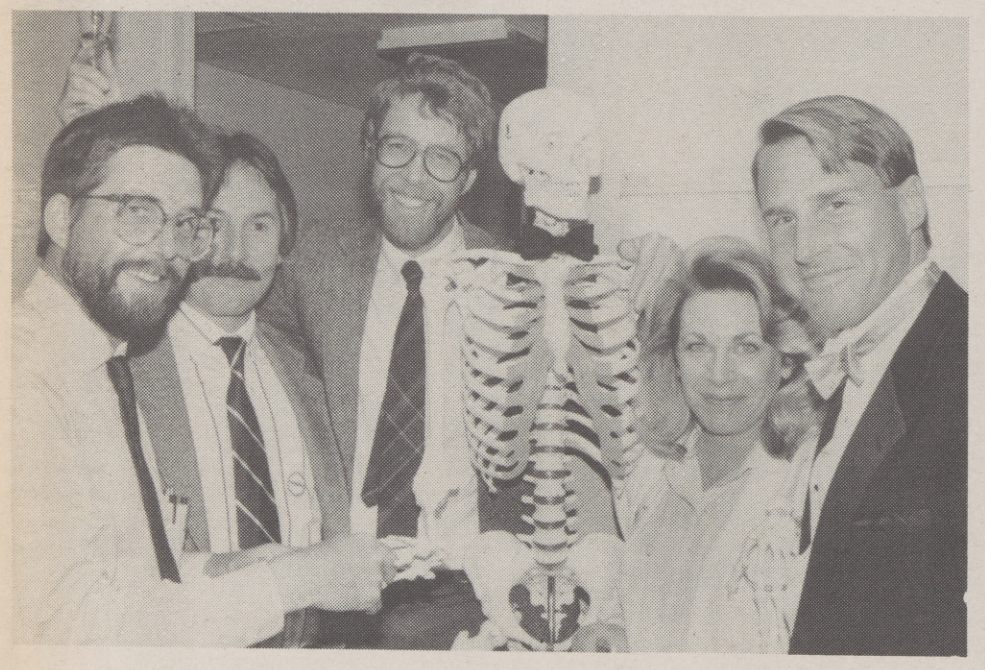
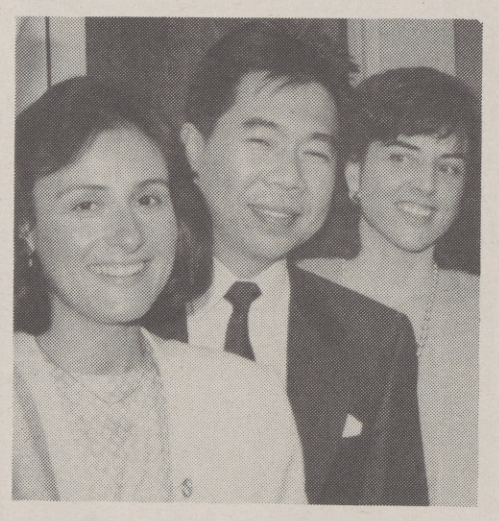
Star-Studded Gala Marks Opening of Pain Management Center





Actually, the only two in black-tie attire were Pain Management Center director Warren McKay and the model skeleton in the office.

And it wasn't so much a gala as it was a friendly reception to mark the official opening of the Center and show off the new quarters on the third floor of 350 Parnassus.

All these people, plus neurosurgeon Nick Barbaro, psychiatrist Stuart Eisendrath and pharmacist Peter Koo—plus additional fellows and residents—are a part of the pain management team. You notice the multiple disciplines: anesthesia, neurology, neurosurgery, psychology, psychiatry, physical therapy, pharmacy, nursing.

As psychologist Robert Lutz explains, "Most people have psychological, behavioral and physical factors contributing to pain. You need to unravel all the things going on, and then devise a treatment to get rid of them."

By having a team of specialists look at each case, the patients can get the best combination of therapies available, explains Dr. McKay. "Our idea was to allow patients to come to one place for evaluation and treatment, without a lot of unnecessary shuttling from specialist to specialist."

The Center is designed for difficult cases of chronic pain, particularly pain caused by nerve damage, as a result of stroke, shingles, or injury to the spinal cord or peripheral nerves. These are patients who already have exhausted all the standard medical remedies for pain. The team at the Pain Management Center takes up where traditional remedies left off, using nerve blocks, novel combinations of drugs or experimental drugs, some delivered directly to the spine; surgery on the spinal cord or brain; or behavioral therapy and physical therapy to alter the way the patient deals with the pain.

What is the need for a center such as this? A national statistic states that 70 million people are afflicted with persistent or chronic pain. On a more local level, try this for a measure: A couple of weeks ago Dr. McKay was the guest on a local call-in radio show. The subject, of course, was pain. So many people called in to ask about their pain problems and about the new Center, the radio station cancelled the following show in order to respond to all the callers.

If you personally would like more information about the Center and new avenues in pain management, there are a couple of good sources: Check the cover story in the February '88 issue of the UCSF Magazine (call x62557) or the spring issue of the new physician newsletter produced by the Planning and Marketing Office, Clinical Profile (call x63289).

P.S. The Center's services are offered in an ambulatory setting, but the team also acts as consultants for inpatients. Administrative nurse Carolyn Taylor, who worked 11 years in PAR before taking the Pain Center post, says she is very interested in helping the acute care nursing staff with any questions or problems related to the acute care pain service. The Pain Center extension is x64276, and 24-hour coverage is available via long-range beeper 957-7197.
